CULEU members,

As you know, yesterday, our negotiation committee was in conciliation with the employer and their team.

It is with great disappointment that we left the meeting without seeing any significant changes in Concordia's attitude and their unwillingness to conclude a satisfactory agreement.

Since the parties are far apart in their positions, the conciliator suspended conciliation and felt it unnecessary to schedule any further meeting dates.

Our negotiation committee remains available to negotiate.

As a result, our mobilization committee in collaboration with the union executive will be evaluating our next step with respect to the mandates of our general assembly up to and including our strike mandate.

Thank you for your support and determination. We will keep you posted with ongoing developments.

In Solidarity,

CULEU
